Cromer-Hemmingway.

What promises to be one of the most beautiful weddings of the early fall season will be that of Miss Laura Cromer to Dr. Theodore Stark Hemmingway of Kingstree, S. C., which will take place tomorrow afternoon at 6 o'clock at Christ church.

Miss Ethel Cromer, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, while Mrs. Jno. Milne of Cleveland, Tenn., will be maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Gwyn of Spartanburg and Miss Mary Wicker of Newberry. Little Misses Louise and Mildred Cromer, nieces are the bride, will act of flower girl and ring bearer.

The groom will have as his best man, Dr. J. H. Mathias of Lexington, S. C. Messrs. W. E. Scott and J. D. O'Bryan of Kingstree will act as groomsmen, while Messrs. F. E. Gibson of Sumter and Roy Summer of Newberry will be the ushers.

Miss Cromer will be given in marriage by her father, Mr. T. H. Cromer. Mrs. Ligon will preside at the organ and the church choir will sing the marriage hymn and the bridal chorus. Rev. Alexander R. Mitchell will perform the ceremony using the beautiful double ring service.

Of especial interest is the fact that Miss Cromer will be married on her parents' thirty-fifth wedding anniversary. She will wear as her only ornament, a handsome old hair brooch, an heirloom of five generations, which contains a lock of hair from each of these generations.

Although Miss Cromer has lived in Greenville very little, having spent most of her time away teaching school, she has won many friends here by her sweet and charming personality, who regret very much that her marriage will take her out of Greenville to live.

Among those here for the Cromer-Hemmingway wedding are Mrs. J. H. Summer of Newberry, an aunt of the bride-to-be, with her two daughters, Misses Lila and Verna Summer; Miss Lora Wicker, Miss Mary Wicker and Mr. Roy Summer, also of Newberry. Greenville Piedmont, 6th.

The Laurens Fair.

Special, to The Herald and News. ...

Laurens, Oct. 4.—Preparations are nearing completion for the fifth annual Laurens County fair which is to be held here Friday, October 15, 1915. The executive committee was busy Friday rounding out the premium list, which will have a wider scope this year than ever before. Particular attention is being paid to the high grade cattle and field crop department, as the fair directors wish to give their encouragement and endorsement to these phases of farm life. A herd of red pole cattle is among the exhibits advertised in this line and strong effort is being put forth to have numerous herds of other breeds here. As is already well known, the side shows, shooting galleries and so on have no place in the Laurens County fair, as it is intended to be of educational, rather than amusement value, a place where the people of this section may gather to study agricultural problems and to exchange ideas on the every day affairs of life. It is not to be understood, however, that the fair day is to be devoted entirely to work, for the pleasures of intermingling with old friends and making new one makes the day one of real enjoyment. The fair is being widely advertised and the indications are that a huge crowd will be here, not only from Laurens county, but from bordering counties. No admission fees are charged for entries or for admittance to the ground. The fair is supported by the people of Laurens and vicinity and they welcome all who may desire to come. The premium list is now ready and the committee will be glad to furnish same to any one desiring to make entry.

Capt. W. S. Langford to Wed.

The following from the Wichita Daily Times of October 3 will be read with interest by the many friends of Capt. W. S. Langford in Newberry.

Capt. Langford will leave Newberry on October 20 for Wichita Falls, Texas, where the wedding is to take place. After the marriage Capt. Langford and his bride will journey to New Orleans and then on North to Richmond and New York before returning to Newberry.

Capt. Langford's numerous friends in Newberry will wish him mightily well in the new relations which he is about to assume and will give a hearty and glad welcome to his Texas bride.

The meeting of the Unity club Friday afternoon, the first of the new club year, was the occasion of an interesting announcement, that of the engagement of one of the club members and her approaching marriage this month. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Kemp, who announced the engagement of her daughter, Mary Jewell, to Mr. William Smith Langford. The usual routine of the club meeting was gone through with, the first meeting having many interesting features.

With the conclusion of the program came the invitation for adjournment to the dining room and here the first hint of anything out of the ordinary was given. The table was charming in a pink and white decorative scheme with the club flowers, carnations, featured. An immense carnation was in the center of the table and from this bower pink ribbons were extended to each cover, the ends being confined by the individual favors, pink and white carnations. When gently pulled the ribbons revealed a card hidden in the large central flower, which gave forth this announcement. "Time, October twenty-seventh, eight-thirty p. m. Place, 906 Grant; People, Mary Jewell Kemp, William Smith Langford."

Congratulations followed in natural order, and while the announcement, which the bride-elect chose to have made first to the club members brought pleasure to those most intimately interested in her happiness, it was also with more than a passing regret that the news was received that after the wedding Miss Kemp would make her home in South Carolina.

An announcement of unusual interest and social importance was made Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemp, Miss Bertha Mae Kemp and Mrs. Newton Maer entertaining to announce the approaching marriage of their sister, Miss Jewell Kemp to Mr. William Smith Langford of Newberry, South Carolina. The afternoon previous the announcement had been made at the Unity club with the request that the date be kept until after the Saturday party. Cards had been issued for bridge and forty-two and the tables were arranged in the music room and reception hall. An exceedingly attractive autumnal setting was achieved in these rooms by the lavish use of golden rod, asters and dahlias in golden and deep yellow tones. The golden rod furnished the color motif employed in the score cards and other accessories of the game and also in the effectively arranged announcement. The final game over, the refreshment course was served at the card tables. A golden shaded candlestick was placed in the center of each table and from the shade small white cards tied in yellow were hanging, one for each guest. The questions asked thereon were: "Time? Place? People?" The answer was found by holding the cards in the candle flame, the following inscription having been written in invisible ink: "October twenty-seventh, seven-thirty, 906 Grant. Jewell Kemp and William Smith Langford." While the cards were being read the Mendelssohn Wedding March was played on the Victrola. The ice course repeated the yellow and white color note and yellow dahlias were individual favors.

The prominence of the families of both the contracting parties makes this announcement one of much interest and the wedding will be one of the social events of this season. The bride-elect is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemp, a young lady of many attainments and social graces. Mr. Langford, a nephew of P. P. Langford, prominent banker of this city, is of a prominent South Carolina family.
